 PROTOCOL AMENDING THE SINGLE CONVENTION ON NARCOTIC
 DRUGS, 1961

NEW YORK, 8 AUGUST 1975

BOLIVIA (PLURINATIONAL STATE OF): COMMUNICATION

The Secretary-General of the United Nations, acting in his capacity as depositary, communicates the following:

On 29 June 2011, the Government of Bolivia deposited an instrument of denunciation of the above Convention. The denunciation took effect on 1 January 2012 (see C.N.421.2011.TREATIES-26 of 30 June 2011).

On 29 December 2011, the Secretary-General received a letter from the President of the Plurinational State of Bolivia that contains an instrument of accession to the above Convention. The instrument of accession includes a reservation. The Government of Bolivia indicated that the reservation is submitted in accordance with article 50, paragraph 3, of the Convention and confirmed that its accession is subject to the authorization of the reservation by the States parties to the Convention and, that the instrument of accession is not to be deposited at this stage.

The text of the reservation reads as follows:

Reservation (Translation) (Original: Spanish)

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to allow in its territory: traditional coca leaf chewing; the consumption and use of the coca leaf in its natural state for cultural and medicinal purposes; its use in infusions; and also the cultivation, trade and possession of the coca leaf to the extent necessary for these licit purposes.

At the same time, the Republic of Bolivia will continue to take all necessary legal measures to control the illicit cultivation of coca in order to prevent its abuse and the illicit production of the narcotic drugs which may be extracted from the leaf.

The effective accession of Bolivia to the aforementioned convention is subject to the authorization of this reservation.

“A State which desires to become a Party but wishes to be authorized to make reservations other than those made in accordance with paragraph 2 of article 50 or with article 49 may inform the Secretary-General of such intention. Unless by the end of twelve months after the date of the Secretary-General's communication of the reservation concerned this reservation has been objected to by one third of the States that have ratified or acceded to this Convention before the end of that period, it shall be deemed to be permitted, it being understood however that States which have objected to the reservation need not assume towards the reserving State any legal obligation under this Convention which is affected by the reservation.”

Accordingly, the twelve-month period for objections will expire on 10 January 2013.

C.N.829.2011.TREATIES-28 (Annex 1)

La Paz, 28 December 2011

Mr. Secretary-General,

I have the honour to inform you that the Plurinational State of Bolivia submits its instrument of accession to the 1961 Single Convention on Drugs, as amended by the 1972 Protocol thereto, in accordance with article 41, paragraph 2 and submits a reservation in accordance with article 50, paragraph 3.

Furthermore, the voluntary accession of Bolivia to the aforementioned Convention is subject to authorization of the reservation attached to this letter.

Bolivia, through its ratification of 3 September 1976, has been a party to the 1961 Single Convention on Drugs, as amended by the 1972 Protocol thereto. As you are aware, the Plurinational State of Bolivia has been obliged to denounce that Convention in order to reconcile its international obligations under the Convention with its Constitution and also because of the objection from some States parties to the amendment proposed by Bolivia to article 49, paragraphs 1(c) and (e). This denunciation became effective through the instrument sent to you on 29 June 2011.

The cultivation, use and consumption of coca leaves is traditional and part of an age-old cultural identity for most of the 36 nations that make up the Plurinational State of Bolivia. The chewing of coca leaves is a "traditional licit use" that is recognized in article 14 of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988.

The requirement of the Single Convention for the abolition of the coca leaf chewing is incompatible with the Constitution of Bolivia, article 384, which protects coca as a natural and medicinal resource that is part of the country's cultural heritage and establishes that coca in its natural state is not a narcotic drug. The aforementioned requirement also violates indigenous and cultural rights, as well as various international agreements, including the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.

This reservation is submitted in the same spirit as the reservation formulated by Bolivia concerning the use, consumption, possession, purchase or cultivation of the coca leaf in respect of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988¹, declaring that:

- The coca leaf is not, in and of itself, a narcotic drug or psychotropic substance;
- The use and consumption of the coca leaf do not cause psychological or physical changes greater than those resulting from the consumption of other plants and products which are in free and universal use;
- The coca leaf is widely used for medicinal purposes in the practice of traditional medicine, the validity of which is upheld by WHO and confirmed by scientific findings.

Depositary notifications are made available to the Permanent Missions to the United Nations in the United Nations Treaty Collection on the Internet at <http://treaties.un.org>, under "Depositary Notifications (CNs)". In addition, the Permanent Missions, as well as other interested individuals, can subscribe to receive depositary notifications by e-mail through the Treaty Section's "Automated Subscription Services", which is also available at <http://treaties.un.org>.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reiterates its commitment and expresses its political will to continue being a party to the Convention and will continue to take effective and necessary measures to control the cultivation and trade in coca in order to prevent the abuse and illicit production of narcotic drugs that can be extracted from the coca leaf, in order to avoid its diversion to the illicit market.

Bolivia, in its Law No. 147, has fully committed itself to complying with and carrying out the provisions set out in the 1961 Single Convention on Drugs, as amended by the 1972 Protocol thereto, with the exception of the provisions in the attached reservation, until its accession becomes effective.

Lastly, I should be grateful if you could circulate this letter with the instrument of accession and the attached reservation to the States parties of the aforementioned Convention.

Please accept, Sir, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

(Signed)

C.N.829.2011.TREATIES-28 (Annex 2)

Accession with reservation

CONSIDERING that the Plurinational State of Bolivia must reconcile its international obligations with its Constitution;

CONSIDERING that the requirement of the Single Convention that coca leaf chewing be abolished is incompatible with article 384 of the Constitution of Bolivia, which protects coca as part of the country's cultural heritage and establishes that coca, in its natural form, is not a narcotic drug;

CONSIDERING that the above requirement also violates the indigenous and cultural rights recognized in the Constitution, as well as in various international human rights agreements, including the 2007 United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples;

CONSIDERING that the 1961 Single Convention on Drugs, as amended by the 1972 Protocol thereto, was adopted and is open for signature;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Juan Evo Morales Ayma, Constitutional President of the Plurinational State of Bolivia, declare that the Government of Bolivia, having examined the aforementioned Convention, accedes to it under article 41, paragraph 2, with the exception of a reservation permitted under article 50, paragraph 3, which forms an integral part of the accession and is formulated as follows:

The Plurinational State of Bolivia reserves the right to allow in its territory: traditional coca leaf chewing; the consumption and use of the coca leaf in its natural state for cultural and medicinal purposes; its use in infusions; and also the cultivation, trade and possession of the coca leaf to the extent necessary for these licit purposes.

At the same time, the Republic of Bolivia will continue to take all necessary legal measures to control the illicit cultivation of coca in order to prevent its abuse and the illicit production of the narcotic drugs which may be extracted from the leaf.

The effective accession of Bolivia to the aforementioned convention is subject to the authorization of this reservation.

IN PROOF AND TESTIMONY OF WHICH, I have placed my signature and seal on this instrument.
